

Did you know that flies are pollinators too? Believe it or not, if it weren't for fly pollinators, we would not have chocolate. Midges, tiny two-winged flies, pollinate the cacao flowers so they can produce the cocoa bean. There are more than 100 crops that depend on flies to pollinate them. Flies prefer stinky flowers that are pale, dull or drab in color.